

Worksheet 4.1

Evaluating and Writing Objectives

Consider the objectives listed below. Evaluate each against the following criteria:

- Is it concise, clear, action-oriented, and measurable?
- Does it describe an observable behavior or result?

Check “yes” or “no.” If you check “no,” rewrite the objective so that it meets the stated criteria.

By the end of this training, participants will be able to:
Understand the signs of possible Posttraumatic Stress Disorder. If No, rewrite:	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Describe the composition of a Sexual Assault Response Team (SART). If No, rewrite:	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Support enhanced communication between law enforcement and victim advocates. If No, rewrite:	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Identify four risk factors for HIV transmission. If No, rewrite:	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No

PARTICIPANT WORKSHEETS
The Ultimate Trainer

By the end of this training, participants will be able to:
Given a scenario and a set of variables that could determine actions, decide if the scenario complies with state laws regarding victim confidentiality and explain why confidentiality is necessary. If No, rewrite:	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Comprehend the importance of the certification process for victims of human trafficking. If No, rewrite:	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Recognize the effects of child abuse. If No, rewrite:	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No