The field of victim services is now a recognized profession that seeks to attract leaders with an appropriate mix of traditional credentials and experience with crime victims to guide it into the future.

This leadership training is designed specifically for victim service professionals who are, or hope to become, program managers. You will learn about your own leadership capabilities, leadership principles, and ethical leadership, as well as how to promote team development and conflict resolution and manage your own leadership initiatives.

BY PARTICIPATING IN THIS 2-DAY TRAINING, YOU WILL:

- Learn to distinguish key differences between leadership and management.
- Describe essential leadership skills and the leadership strengths you bring to your position in victim services.
- Develop action strategies that promote ethical behaviors.
- Look at organizational cultures and how to achieve your preferred culture.
- Develop an action plan that includes four areas of change management.
- Assess your current leadership capacity and design a leadership development plan.

CEUs are available upon successful completion of the training.
