Purpose of Training Series

Mass Violence and Terrorism

This web training series highlights the importance of communities, states, and regions planning a response to incidents of mass violence and terrorism using the OVC resource, Helping Victims of Mass Violence & Terrorism: Planning, Response, Recovery, and Resources Toolkit. The first webinar in this series provides a detailed overview of how to use the Toolkit. Subsequent web trainings delve deeper into sections of the Toolkit.

Customized technical assistance is available to city, county, and state-level organizations to help implement the Toolkit. If you would like to request mass violence and terrorism customized technical assistance, please contact us by email at TTAC@ovcttac.org.

Goals of this Webinar

After completing this webinar, you should be able to—

- Describe the importance of communication throughout the three phases within the Mass Violence and Terrorism Toolkit.

- Discuss the communications role you can propose to help serve victims of mass violence and terrorism.

- Identify challenges of successful communication within each phase.
Victim-centric language – Communicating with language that validates the victim’s experience and avoids triggering them and distressing them further.
The Importance of the Communications Protocol

- Decreases anxiety and provides support.
- Prevents anxiety through “crowd management.”
- Helps sustain order, security, safety, and integrity in a crime scene and investigation.

Understanding Your Role

The ICS will guide how you—

- Communicate to different audiences.
- Know what information you are authorized to release.
- Recognize the “legitimate sources” and the role(s) they play.
- Use a disaster-specific, trauma-informed approach.

Partnerships and Planning

Response

Recovery
Communications Goals: Partnership and Planning

- Identify your primary spokesperson (e.g., agency, community, and ICS liaison).
- Communicate between all partners.
- Define a common message.
Communication Protocol: Partnerships & Planning

- JIC members and location.
- Spokesperson and PIO.
- Media strategy.
- Methods of communication.
- Universal access to information.
- Tele communication partners.
- Response FAQs.
- VOCA Assistance and Compensation administrators.
The Joint Information Center (JIC)—

- Conducts public information operations during emergency responses and other multidisciplinary situations.
- May need to correct misinformation and address rumors.
- Differs based on the scale and scope of the event.
Communication Protocol: Partnerships & Planning

The spokesperson and Public Information Officer (PIO)—

- Develops and manages working relationships with media outlets.
- Serves as the official communicators for an incident.
- Other officials may step forward to provide information.
Communication Protocol: Partnerships & Planning

Strategic elements should—

- Include safety and security guidelines at the scene and within the community.
- Consider the restrictions of a possible gag order.
- Be aware of how shared information may change based on the status of the suspect.
- Provide information about donations and volunteers.

Communication Protocol: Partnerships & Planning

Responses to frequently asked questions (FAQ) should include information about—

- The event.
  - Breaking news related to incident activity, status of suspect/case, or condition of the scene.

- The location and role of the Family Assistance Center (FAC).
  - Referrals to local and regional services for mental health and counseling; health care and childcare; crime victim compensation; and assistance with legal matters, travel, creditors, work-related issues, financial planning, insurance benefits, IRS/tax policies, Social Security/disability, FEMA, etc.
VOCA administrators—

- Support victim assistance and compensation programs.
- Provide training for diverse professionals who work with victims.
- Develop projects to enhance victims’ rights and services.
- Undertake public education and awareness activities on behalf of crime victims.
Communications Goals: Response

- Identify who the legitimate sources are.
- Establish how information can be verified.
- Determine who dictates the dissemination of information.
- Communicate sources for specific needs.
Communication Protocol: Response

- JIC activation.
- Event information and FAC.
- VOCA Assistance and Compensation administrators.
- Information adjustments based on offender status.
- Victims’ rights fact sheet.

Response Checklist. Use this checklist during the initial response phase.
Communication Protocol: Response

The Incident Commander of the ICS will activate the JIC to—

- Craft and deliver the universal messaging related to the event.
- Provide “official” information.
  - Through various media (radio, TV, web).
  - Through alternate platforms (SMS, social media, online apps).
  - In multilingual and multicultural formats.
Communication Protocol: Response

Response FAQs should—

- Be coordinated with the legitimate source for timely and accurate information.
- Model a disaster-specific, trauma-informed approach.
- Be communicated to victims before they are shared with the public.

Event information and FAC.
Communication Protocol: Response

Victims’ Rights & the Media
Victims Should Have the Right:

- To say "no" to an interview;
- To select the spokesperson or advocate of the victim's choice;
- To select the time and location for media interviews;
- To request a specific reporter;
- To refuse an interview with a specific reporter even though he or she has granted interviews to other reporters;
- To say "no" to an interview even though the victim has previously granted interviews;
- To release a written statement through a spokesperson in lieu of an interview;
- To exclude children from interviews;
- To refrain from answering any questions with which the victim is uncomfortable or that the victim feels are inappropriate;
- To avoid a press conference atmosphere and speak to only one reporter at a time;
- To demand a correction when inaccurate information is reported;
- To ask that offensive photographs or visuals be omitted from airing or publication;
- To conduct a television interview using a silhouette or a newspaper interview without having their picture taken;
- To completely give the victim's side of the story related to the victimization;
- To refrain from answering reporters questions during a trial;
- To file a formal complaint against a reporter;
- To grieve in private; and
- To suggest training about media and victims for print and electronic media in their community.

A victim has the right at all times to be treated with dignity and respect by the media. Victims' rights to privacy can be better protected by the active participation of a victim advocate. A victim advocate can play an effective role as a "go-between" for the reporter and the victim, establishing an environment conducive for the victim to speak to the press. This minimizes the invasion of privacy felt by the victim, allows advocates to advise victims about their rights in the media, and gives the media access to the story. Additionally, such a process assists those victims who wish to refuse to grant an interview. It also provides an opportunity for the advocate to assist the victim in preparing a statement, including reviewing the facts that can and cannot be released to the public, calming their fears, and being present when the actual interview is conducted.
Communication Protocol: Response

Information adjustments based on status of the suspect.
Communication Protocol: Response

VOCA Compensation administrators may deploy to the FAC to—

- Provide compensation information and support.

VOCA Assistance administrators may provide—

- Funding support to responding victim service agencies.
- Information about the OVC Antiterrorism and Emergency Assistance Program (AEAP).
Communications Goals: Recovery

- Ensure updates from the PIO/spokesperson are communicated to victims and families.
- Ensure media communication conveys accurate information to the public.
- Communicate where resources and other needed services are available for victims.
- Ensure there is not duplication of services.
Communication Protocol: Recovery

- Lessons learned report.
- FAC transition to Resiliency Center.
- Community service and support information.
- VOCA Assistance and Compensation administrators.
- Memorial and anniversary events.
- Financial support.
Transition to Resiliency Center.

Community Resiliency Centers (CRC) —

- Transition from the local Family Assistance Center within 1 week or up to 3 months after the event.
- Provide ongoing services to victims, family members, first responders, and community members.
- May not exist in all communities.

Disseminate information about the CRC, if one exists, or available services if one does not.
Community service and support information may be—

- Necessary during difficult times after the event.
- Sought out at the CRC or the Prosecutor’s Office.
- Pushed out to raise awareness.
Communication Protocol: Recovery

Memorial and anniversary events.

Planning for and disseminating information about triggering events should include—

- Proactively supporting survivors, victims’ families, and community members.
- Partnering with behavioral/mental health professionals to craft messaging.
- Considering the needs and preferences of the community.
- Providing a place to honor victims.
Communication Protocol: Recovery

Communicate safeguards against financial fraud—

- Ensure primary funders have a designated place to communicate.
- Donation sites are set up with “official” logos.
- Partner with financial planners, attorneys, and accountants who can be available at the CRC.
Communication Protocol: Recovery

VOCA support may include—

- State funds for programs.
- Additional funds and services.
- Funding through the Antiterrorism and Emergency Assistance Program (AEAP).
Communication Protocol: Recovery

Communicate findings from the lessons learned report, including—

- Data about the population served.
- Descriptions about community agency involvement.
- Information about the working relationships among responding organizations.
- Challenges in the process.
- Survey/anecdotal information from victims and providers.
